Honourable Lyall Hanson
Minister of Municipal Affairs,
Recreation and Culture
Parliament Buildings,
Victoria, B.C.
V8W 1X4

Dear Mr. Hanson,

On behalf of the Board of Directors it is my pleasure to submit the twelfth Annual Report of the British Columbia Heritage
Trust, for the year ending March 31, 1990.

Respectfully submitted,

Chairman's Message

This 1989/90 Annual Report demonstrates the vitality of British Columbia's heritage community. The hundreds of individuals and organizations who contributed so much to the preservation, development, and presentation of our heritage can take pride in their achievements. The British Columbia Heritage Trust salutes both the people and the work accomplished.

The British Columbia Heritage Trust is a Crown Corporation of the province and reports to the Honourable Lyall Hanson, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Recreation, and Culture. The Trust's management requirements are provided by the staff of the Heritage Conservation Branch. Staff can be reached by phone at 356-1433 or by writing Dr. Colin Campbell, Executive Officer, British Columbia Heritage Trust, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. V8V 1X4.

The mandate of the Trust is to support, encourage and facilitate the conservation, maintenance, and restoration of heritage properties in the province. The Trust carries out this mandate through 12 financial assistance programs, the management of five heritage properties, the Community Pride program, and an active communication program.

Funding for the Trust programs is provided by British Columbia Lottery revenues and private sector fund-raising initiatives. Due to the continued increased support of the Minister and the government, the Trust has been able to increase its services and programs in communities throughout the province.

There is a growing awareness and appreciation of both the cultural and economic benefits of heritage. In my own community and those that I visit, buildings are being restored, research is underway, tours are available and similar heritage activities are in progress or are being planned. As importantly, the work is not being done by heritage groups in isolation but rather with the support and participation of local governments, the business sector, and other community organizations.

Again congratulations to all British Columbians who contributed to and participated in heritage projects. The Trust looks forward to the partnerships of the coming years as we work together to enhance the values of our rich heritage.

A stylized, handwritten signature of Mike Patterson in dark ink. The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letters of the first and last names being capitalized and prominent.

Chairman

Minister's Message

I am pleased to present the British Columbia Heritage Trust's 1989/90 Annual Report. The projects described herein illustrate the scope of heritage initiatives taking place in all regions of our province.

From Atlin to Trail, to Golden, to Nootka Sound, people are contributing their energy, expertise, and resources to the preservation and development of our province's heritage. My government is pleased to support these efforts by individuals, local governments and community organizations.

The British Columbia Heritage Trust is the primary agency through which the province allocates Lottery Funds to community based heritage initiatives. Given the importance of our heritage resources and the benefits that have accrued from numerous heritage projects, the government has increased the budget of the Heritage Trust to ensure that the scope of this work continues to expand.

Critical to the success of any heritage project is the participation of dedicated individuals. I extend my appreciation and congratulations to all the heritage workers whose efforts and commitment made the dreams a reality. You should be proud of your accomplishments.

The new year brings new challenges and greater opportunities. We shall continue our support for community-based heritage projects that involve the participation of local governments, businesses, and residents. I look forward to working towards even greater successes in 1990/91.

Introduction

The British Columbia Heritage Trust was established by the Heritage Conservation Act in 1978. One of the main objectives of the Trust is to allocate funds to community based projects that increase peoples' awareness and appreciation of their heritage.

Heritage Programs

The British Columbia Heritage Trust administers twelve financial assistance programs which cover a broad range of activities. Each of the programs are outlined in the following pages, and are also presented in the Trust's Guide to Programs. To discuss any program or initiative that may be considered, Trust staff can be reached at 356-1433, in Victoria, or by writing to the attention of Dr. Colin Campbell, Executive Director, British Columbia Heritage Trust, Legislative Buildings, Victoria, British Columbia V8V 1X4.

The Trust Board of Directors convenes six times a year to adjudicate applications from local governments, educational institutions, and community organizations. These meetings are held in municipalities throughout the province. They provide Directors with an opportunity to meet with Councils, business representatives, and citizens, to discuss relevant issues, plans, and visions. Through the sharing of information and the clarifying of Trust programs, these community meetings benefit both the local heritage program and the Trust Directors.

As well as the financial support programs outlined in the following pages, the Trust also manages the Community Pride program, which provides training workshops in communities throughout the province; six heritage properties known as The Grist Mill at Keremeos, Historic Hat Creek Ranch at Cache Creek, and archaeological sites at Crescent Beach, Monte Creek, Beach Grove, and Vallican; and a communication program which produces the Technical Papers, the Guide to Programs, the Annual Report, and a host of other educational materials.

Accountability

The Trust receives the major portion of its operating budget from the British Columbia Lottery Fund. An allocation is transferred each spring, and the Board of Directors then adjudicate applications that are made to the Trust's programs.

The Trust also receives income from the interest which is earned on the Heritage Investment Fund, revenue from the site operations through sales and admissions, the sale of Technical Papers, and donations from both individuals and corporations.

The Trust expends funds through the grants programs, the operations of the sites that it manages, the production of communication materials such as this Annual Report, and staff and other administrative costs.

When an award is granted to a project, the entire amount of the grant is transferred from the Trust's operating budget to the Heritage Investment Fund. Payments are then made to the applicant from this fund as the project proceeds. As some projects are undertaken over a two to three year period and payments are forwarded as progress is made, the total amount awarded in any given year may not equal the amount paid out in that year.

It is also important to note that the Heritage Investment Fund represents funds which have been allocated to projects in progress and are, therefore, committed to community initiatives in all regions of the province.

Expenditures at the sites are incurred through contracts with Site Managers, and direct actions from the Victoria office. Sales at the sites are accounted for through inventories and sales receipts, and donations are tracked at the sites.

All financial transactions are subjected to both internal and external scrutinies. All payments must receive three approvals before a cheque can be issued, a private sector accounting firm manages the accounts of the Trust, and signing authorities are vested in senior staff and Directors. As a final review, an outside firm performs an audit of the Trust's financial accountability each year. The Financial Statements contained in the Annual Report are a result of the annual audit.

The Trust is proud of its openness to accountability. This Annual Report is produced by the authority of the Heritage Conservation Act to provide a complete listing of all grants awarded and other initiatives undertaken during the year.

If you have any question on this report or Trust programs please contact Dr. Colin Campbell, Executive Officer, B.C. Heritage Trust Legislative Buildings, Victoria, B.C. V8V 1X4 or phone 356-1431.

Archaeology

The purpose of this program is to provide funds for projects in the fields of historic, pre-historic and underwater archaeology in B.C. Funds can be used for background research, archaeological investigation, material analysis and ongoing public interpretation.

Funding for projects that run for a maximum of three years may be committed through this program. Trust funding levels are up to $100,000 per project. Sponsors are expected to demonstrate significant contributions toward financing or support services. Applicants are also encouraged to include an ongoing public interpretation element in their proposals.

Nootka Sound $14,650. Simon Fraser University Archaeology Department Mowachaht Archaeology Project To conduct an inventory of archaeological sites in Nootka Sound.

Building Restoration

This program assists with the exterior restoration of individually designated, or otherwise protected, heritage buildings that are owned by a municipality, regional district, Indian band, or non-profit heritage society.

Restoration must be the primary objective of all projects. Work must be focused on achieving historical accuracy with respect to the original design.

Trust funding toward exterior restorations is on a 50/50 percent matching, once-only basis. The maximum amount available during 1989/90 was $60,000, or 50 percent of eligible project costs, whichever is less. Maintenance and operating costs are not considered under this program. The building must be on a priority list of the city, municipality, or regional district.

Community Heritage Development

This program supports projects that further the development of both community heritage resources and community-based organizations. It is divided into three sub-programs to better define the objectives of this initiative.

Projects must be completed within 12 months from the date the application is approved. Application can be made to the Trust at any time during the year.

Project budgets must consist of three distinct components which are to be provided for: salary (to a maximum of 70 percent of the total budget); project supplies and services; and follow-up costs (display, presentation, report writing).

The follow-up or 'product' of this project is as important as the research or earlier work. The product is a promotional tool that sponsors should use to increase awareness and understanding of heritage in their community.

Auditor's Report

To the Members of the Board of Directors, British Columbia Heritage Trust, and

To the Minister of Municipal Affairs,
Recreation and Culture,
Province of British Columbia

We have examined the balance sheet of British Columbia Heritage Trust as at March 31, 1990 and the statements of revenue and expenditure, heritage investment fund and changes in financial position for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances, except as explained in the following paragraph.

We were unable to satisfy ourselves as to the accuracy of revenues and expenditures at one of the heritage sites owned by the Trust, due to the incompleteness of accounting records at that site. Accordingly, our verification of these transactions was limited to the amounts recorded in the records of the Trust and we were not able to determine whether any adjustments might be necessary to other revenues, excess of revenue over expenditure, assets and heritage investment fund.

In our opinion, except for the effect of adjustments, if any, which we might have determined to be necessary had we been able to satisfy ourselves concerning the completeness of revenues and expenditures referred to in the preceding paragraph, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Trust as at March 31, 1990 and the results of its operations and changes in its financial position for the year then ended in accordance with the accounting principles detailed in Note 2 applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Further, we have examined the transactions that came to our notice in the course of the above mentioned examination of the financial statements of British Columbia Heritage Trust for the year ended March 31, 1990 to determine whether they were in accordance with the Heritage Conservation Act. Our examination of these transactions was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In our opinion, these transactions were, in all significant respects, in compliance with the Act.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies

a) Short-term investments

Short-term investments consist of units in Province of British Columbia Pooled Investment Portfolios. Units are carried at the lower of cost of acquisition adjusted by income attributed to the units, and market value. Income attributed to the units represents the unitholder's share of interest earned by the Portfolio and may be realizable upon the sale of units.

b) Fixed assets and depreciation

Costs incurred for the acquisition and restoration of heritage property of the Trust in excess of $1,500 are capitalized. Expenditures on properties which do not relate to restoration are expensed in the year. In the current year, $68,000 has been expensed in accordance with this policy (1989 - $21,462). Donated property is recorded at the appraised value at the time of its receipt.

Due to the heritage nature of these properties, no provision is made for depreciation.

c) Grant expenditures

Grants to approved projects are recorded as an expenditure in the year the disbursement is made.

4. Related party transactions

During the year, the Trust entered into the following transactions with the Province of British Columbia, a related party.

- a) Received grants from the British Columbia Lottery Fund amounting to $2,450,000 during the year ended March 31, 1990 (1989 - $2,050,000).
- b) Received certain staffing, accommodation and administrative services for the Trust at no charge. The cost of providing these services for the year ended March 31, 1990, amounted to approximately $357,000 (1989 - $293,000).
- c) Earned income from its funds invested in the Pooled Investment Portfolio amounting to $457,299 (1989 - $284,030). In addition, the Trust paid to the Provincial Treasury $6,841 (1989 - $6,750) for management of the Portfolio.

5. Commitments

The Trust had commitments of $2,451,682 at March 31, 1990 (1989 - $1,477,339) as set out in the attached schedule of commitments and disbursements of grants.

6. Prior period restatement

Correction of the accounting for heritage properties in a prior year has resulted in an increase of $41,000 in heritage properties and the heritage investment fund at the beginning of the 1989 fiscal year.

7. Contingency

During the year the Province was named as a defendant in a land claims lawsuit which includes the Vallican property beneficially owned by the Trust.

As at the date of these financial statements, this lawsuit has not been resolved and the Trust is unable to determine the likelihood or amount, if any, of the loss. If settlement of this litigation results in a loss to the Trust, it will be accounted for as a prior period adjustment.

Heritage Area Revitalization

Through the Heritage Area Revitalization Program (HARP) the British Columbia Heritage Trust assists communities with the restoration of well-defined groups of buildings which have been important in the early development of the community, and which have significant visual impact.

The Trust is prepared to commit funding for projects of up to three years' duration, and requires that at least equal matching funds be committed by the municipal government and private sector combined. Municipal councils and regional district boards normally administer the program, and are accountable for funds awarded by the Trust.

Municipalities must designate a coordinator to administer this program, and Trust staff must be consulted during the early planning stages. Information is available from Trust offices to assist communities prepare and implement a HARP project.

Trust funds are generally allocated on the basis of the following formula: 60 percent to restoration and/or rehabilitation; 35 percent to overhead/design/compatible renovation; and 5 percent to interpretation.

Trust funds may be used for:

- planning and research
- design services of specialists, such as architects and engineers required for each project
- restoration and cleaning of historic building facades, monuments and signs
- placement of plaques, kiosks and other features which assist in the appreciation of the area's heritage value
- alterations to facades of other buildings so as to maintain a consistent theme within the heritage area.

Participation in other government programs may affect eligibility and/or allocations.

British Columbia Historic Landmarks

The British Columbia Historic Landmarks Program provides special assistance to those Landmark Heritage Resources that have played a major role in the history of the region or province. The building, site or object must be the property of the local government or a registered non-profit society, and be readily accessible to the public in its original location.

Up to $250,000 per landmark is available for capital improvements on a one-time, cost-sharing basis. Funds may be used for: restoration or rehabilitation of exterior fabric, including labour and material; infrastructure requirements such as fire systems, building access and seismic upgrading; and presentation needs such as interpretive displays.

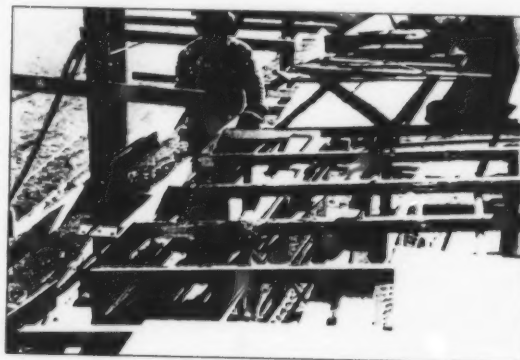

Funds are limited within the program, but can be released over a multi-year period as part of a partnership between the British Columbia Heritage Trust and the organization managing the development and preservation of the resource.

Planning and Inventory

Assistance under this program is provided to local governing bodies, including municipalities, regional districts, and Indian bands; non-profit societies and post-secondary institutions conducting heritage inventory projects. Preliminary or comprehensive surveys, inventories, and planning and feasibility studies may be supported. Eligible resources include the built environment, archaeological sites, preor post-contact artifacts, marine shipwrecks and related materials.

It is essential that the study area is well-defined and that the distribution of the resources is given clear indication. Trust awards are generally based on a 50/50 cost sharing formula, with an award limit of $50,000. Occasionally up to 100 percent of project costs are supported, however significant local contributions are expected.

To conduct a complete inventory of archaeological sites in the City of Cranbrook.

Publications Assistance

The Trust supports the publication of new, well-documented material pertaining to the heritage of British Columbia. These publications should seek to improve public awareness of the urban and rural heritage of the province, promote its preservation, or provide information for laypersons and professionals in conservation techniques.

Funds are not intended for research, but rather for production and printing costs. Manuscripts must be complete but not typeset, as editorial changes may be requested. Applicants must be publishing companies, not independent writers, and anticipated costs for design, maps, photographs, illustrations, layout, printing, binding and distribution need to be detailed in the submission.

Four categories of publication assistance are available, and are described in the current edition of Programs & Guidelines of the British Columbia Heritage Trust. Funding levels range from maximums of $1,500 to $7,500 depending on the category. Reprints of previously published material, and films, slide programs or videotapes will not be considered.

Religious Building Restoration

Designated or otherwise legally protected heritage buildings of a religious nature, such as churches, synagogues and temples are given assistance for their exterior restoration under this program. Historical accuracy is an essential requirement.

The Trust may support up to 50 percent of the costs for specific exterior restoration work on the building. These projects are usually funded on a once-only basis to a maximum of $30,000. The property must be on a local priority list, and maintenance and operating costs cannot be considered for Trust funding.

Scholarships

The British Columbia Heritage Trust Scholarship Program offers awards annually in the following fields: British Columbia Archaeology, British Columbia Architecture, and British Columbia History or Archival Management. Other heritage related studies in these fields will also be considered.

Each scholarship is dedicated to the memory of an outstanding British Columbian who, in his own field, contributed greatly to the understanding and conservation of the unique heritage of this province.

Dr. Charles Borden has been rightfully called the 'Father of British Columbia Archaeology.' In 1949, Dr. Borden initiated an academic program in archaeology at the University of British Columbia. Working extensively in the southwestern area of the province, he determined a sequence of human occupation had extended here for over 12,000 years.

Peter N. Cotton was a gifted restoration architect and a leader in his field. Mr. Cotton's restoration projects have included Richard Carr House, Craigflower Farmhouse and Schoolhouse, and the exterior of Victoria's St. Andrew's Cathedral, among others.

Willard Ireland was well known for his popularization of provincial history. As a writer and teacher, Dr. Ireland's contributions to the identification, interpretation and preservation of the historic resources of British Columbia are well respected.

1989/90

Victoria $11,000.

Special Projects

The Trust may, on an occasional basis, approve funding for projects which are not eligible for assistance in other programs. Proposals must indicate the relevance of the project to heritage conservation and local heritage priorities. The sponsoring community is expected to match any Trust support with its own contribution of financing and other resources.

Vernon $500.

Okanagan Historical Society

Leonard Norris Plaque

To place a commemorative plaque recognizing the contribution of Leonard Norris to the development of Vernon.

Vancouver $2,000.

CP Rail Caboose

To restore this 1945 wooden caboose, one of the last built before the transition to all-steel construction was made.

Theme Development

Theme Development projects are developed in cooperation with other agencies to enhance heritage conservation and awareness on a regional and thematic basis.

The Cowichan Chemainus Valley EcoMuseum pilot project supports special initiatives to interpret, promote and preserve the history and living heritage of that region. Presentation of the history of forestry within the defined project area is a prime objective.

The project is intended to benefit communities by encouraging civic pride, resident awareness of heritage, and economic diversification. Emphasis is focussed on the development of heritage interpretation and experiences, and on coordination and marketing of heritage components.

An integral aspect of the project is the establishment of an inter-community planning process with regional leadership. This planning will assist in identifying, presenting, marketing and managing the heritage resources, past and present, within the region.

Capital Projects

The Grist Mill at Keremeos

During another successful season of activity at the Mill, over 18,000 people were welcomed between May and October. A full schedule of events, workshops in traditional Victorian-era crafts, demonstrations, lectures and musical heritage concerts provided entertainment and education. Volunteers provided a children's 'Storytime' series, and extensive off-site liaison generated wider community interest in the Mill.

With the acquisition of 2.8 adjoining hectares of fields a design for expanding the heritage gardens was developed, and historic varieties of trees were transplanted, a legacy from orchardist Bill Parsons. A complete site development plan was prepared, including preliminary ideas for a new visitor centre facility.

B.C. HERITAGE TRUST/STEVE TOMLINSON

Visitors at the waterwheel.

Historic Hat Creek Ranch

Major opening ceremonies drew hundreds of visitors who enjoyed pioneer games, dance performances, tours, and a ranch-sized barbecue. Similar activities helped to attract over 7,000 visitors during the summer and fall. Trail rides were introduced, along the Cariboo Wagon Road and through the stands of Ponderosa pine.

The Mower Shed was fully stabilized and restored, ready for a variety of uses. Meanwhile strategic supports were installed in the Roadhouse to strengthen the upper floor and to prevent deterioration of some lower floor areas, now subject to increasing foot traffic. A new washroom building, erected near the improved parking lot and equipped with modern plumbing, was finished in simple wooden siding to blend into the ambience of the site.

Major highway signs in the new province-wide design scheme had an immediate effect on travellers' awareness of the site, promising an even busier season in 1990.

Application Procedures

Applications for financial support from the British Columbia Heritage Trust may be made at any time. All potential applicants are encouraged to contact Trust staff at the earliest stages of their planning.

The British Columbia Heritage Trust is assisted in its work by staff of the Heritage Conservation Branch. The Director of the Heritage Conservation Branch acts as Executive Officer to the Trust. All enquiries should be addressed to the British Columbia Heritage Trust, but may then be referred to the Branch to provide technical assistance in the following areas: architecture, archaeology, planning and establishing a heritage conservation program. Branch staff may be in contact with applicants for further information prior to submission of applications to the Board of Directors. Complete applications to the Trust are taken forward to the Board of Directors meetings by the Executive Officer of the Heritage Conservation Branch and the Manager of the Trust.
